Home of 21st Century Education

The world is changing fast and children growing up today will have to co-create a more sustainable society tomorrow. For this they will need to develop new skills our school system hasn't been always focusing on.

Home of 21st Century Education is a place, where you and your children — by culture, arts and play — can learn how to positively change the future.

Home of 21st Century Education

The world is changing fast and children growing up today will need to co-create a more sustainable society for tomorrow. For this they will need to develop skills and themes our school systems haven't yet comprehensively addressed.

Institutions certified as a “Home of 21st Century Education” are innovative learning centres with children at the center of their work. By encouraging playful engagement with cultural heritage they equip children for a sustainable future of social, cultural and environmental cohesion.

We are cultural gateways:

locally relevant, easily accessible and comprehensive to all, we are public refuges of well-being and enjoyment, heritage, aesthetics, and imagination. We serve as entrance institutions into cultural life.

Learn by Play!

self-learning: trying out
the unknown, curiosity
and imagination.

We are educational labs: incubators of contemporary education, continuously creating and improving hands-on, mind-on, heart-on learning experiences. We research, develop and test innovative educational practices.

We offer play-based, interdisciplinary, multi-perspective and interactive learning experiences where imagination, creativity, and curiosity for the unknown are at home.

Bridging the Gaps

For all ages, bridging
the gaps between generations.

We are intergenerational with children in the centre: we serve as meeting places to bridge the gaps between generations, and foster
intergenerational dialogue and learning.

Be heard!

Place to interact,
engage: where every
voice can be heard.

Be heard!

Place to interact,
engage: where every
voice can be heard.

We apply a polyphonic, participatory and inclusive approach: we are responsive, audience-focused institutions, where interactivity is at the heart of every visitor's experience. Social and cultural diversity is reflected in all our 'P's: in our people, program, products, promotion, place, partners, process and prices.
